Gen. Jacob Devers Responsible for Stuttgart Rape

To the Editor of the Hudson Dispatch, (Union City, New Jersey):

It is with great interest that I read the editorial of July 23 entitled, "Bombings Cause Scars That Last for a Lifetime." The cartoon "Unexploded-Nation-Buster" was also excellent and timely.

There is no surer way than to heap insult upon injury. Our forces went into Germany, destroyed practically everything that came in their way, regardless of justice, or a thought for the future. We not only wasted all their cities, but according to the reports, of a few weeks ago, made by 5 Senators who visited Europe, we permitted the wholesale ravaging of German women and girls.

The last reports number the unfortunate victims variously as from 1,000 to 5,000 girls requisitioned over for five days to the wiles and wills of African troops.

I have personally talked to one of the senators who was in Europe and with great emphasis he informed me that it was far worse than the report gave it. Besides, on my way home from Washington, I talked to a major of the United States Army. I asked him whether he had been in Europe and he answered, "Yes." I asked him whether he knew anything of the reported rapes committed against the German girls. He answered me in practically the same words used by the senator, that the story is worse than told. He stated that although there is some voluntary prostitution as happens in any war, yet, other conditions prevail that are far worse. He stated that the Russians attack 15-year-old girls in broad daylight on the city streets and even men are attacked.

Of course, we can say, as one of the secretaries to the senator said to me, "It is their own fault. They brought it on themselves." Fifteen-year-old girls surely had nothing to do with bringing on this war. They were too young to even know what was going on when this war was started. There has been much talk about these conditions in the Senate but nothing has been done to start an investigation. Such action or inaction on our part will engender not only a life-long hatred, but a hatred passed on from generation to generation with a vow of revenge.

No conquered nation can be educated to our way of life if we permit or even sanction such fiendish, bestial atrocities committed against helpless victims. How would we feel if these girls had been our own daughters? The callousness toward immorality everywhere is appalling. Truly we have made but little progress when like the conquerors of ancient times, we bring shame besides destruction upon our enemy.

The investigation by the Army does not affirm or deny this information. It is as though we were left in mid-air, and, surely befuddles the issue, to say the least. Gen. Devers, using subterfuge and many ambiguous statements declares: "I visited the 100th Headquarters and was told quiet had been restored. I toured the city and found that quiet had been restored." There must have been a far different state of things to lead him to use "quiet had been restored." It shows plainly that just the opposite had existed. He also mentions, "my first information of bad conditions in Stuttgart." Then, there were bad conditions?

In another long-winded refutation we read that "these French officers regret the publicity given in America to the incidents of 4 days of INDISCIPLINE at Stuttgart—it should not be held against them as an unforgetable crime after 4 years of brutal German occupation." Two wrongs never make a right and under no circumstances can these people be excused after violating the bodies of innocent girls.

I have written to Senators Smith and Hawkes stating my findings about these atrocities and that my investigation showed they were true. I have asked them to have an official investigation made. I also wrote to Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America and World Council of Churches in Geneva, Switzerland, presenting these facts for their consideration and action. (Rev.) F. R. Riedel.

After David Baird loaned Elliott Roosevelt $70,000 he began writing insurance policies on war plants. These policies run into literally millions. The policy on the U. S. Steel Corporation alone ran to one hundred million dollars. Following the loan Baird visited the late President Roosevelt in Warm Springs. The word was passed down the line that big insurance policies should go to Baird. The profits on these policies have run into astronomical figures.

Jewish Mayor Rules German City

By Beatrice Heiman in Calif. Jewish Voice, L. A.

WASHINGTON,— A regular reader of the "Congressional Record" finds it pretty dismal going in the rank, hate-infested jungles that form the preserve of many southern members of Congress. It is agreeable to report an encouraging contrary in a journal which is anything but grandiloquent and a good deal more widespread. "Yank" is its name. As many of you probably know, this weekly magazine is published by the enlisted men of the United States Army. The only way for an officer to gain admittance is by writing a letter to the page called "Mail Call."

All sorts of subjects are to be found in "Mail Call'. They range from inquiries about marital status to condemnation of racial segregation in the army, from sharp criticism of an American officer who reportedly saluted Nazi generals and other "Nazi criminals," to satiric gripes about the Navy enlisted man's uniform.

The same issue of "Yank" contained a two-page story about the new Jewish mayor of Ettlingen in southern Germany, Fritz Israel Strauss. Appointed by the French troops of the Seventh Army, which took the town, he has "cleaned out the vermin," and restored a considerable degree of normality to the administration and life of Ettlingen. Long an anti-Nazi, and at one time director of a fraternal association of 30,000 Baden Jews—180 of whom are known to have survived—Strauss criticized the gullibility of Allied Military Government officials in frequently assigning Nazis to responsible positions.

His recipe for treatment of Nazi party members, he told the "Yank" correspondent, it to send all nine million of them to the Soviet Union, France, Poland and all the countries they destroyed " and force them to rebuild for as long as twenty years. You must teach Nazis that they are a defeated people," he emphasized.

CONSCRIPTION AND WAR

NEW HOLLAND, Ill,—Rep. Martin is urging a world-wide ban on post-war military conscription. This is the best suggestion that has come out of Washington for a long time. It will probably be shouted down, because it is too sensible. The same news item quotes Rep. Woodrum as saying that all the diplomats and military leaders approve of postwar conscription. That is to be expected. The diplomats are the advance agents of war. War is the business of the military leaders, and they can be expected to boost the business of war with the same enthusiasm as a cranberry merchant boosts the sale of cranberries. —D. F. Hughes.

10,000 Fathers Being Deported

WASHINGTON,—Rep. Dickstein (D.-N. Y.) chairman of the House Immigration and Naturalization Committee, disclosed that warrants are out for the arrest and deportation of the heads of some 10,000 to 15,000 families.

The men, all aliens, are accused of old offenses against the law many of a minor nature, which makes them subject to deportation. Some of the infractions, Dickstein said, were committed 20 to 25 years ago.

"The action of the immigration authorities is disrupting thousands of families many of them with servicemen overseas, causing chaos and protests in numerous communities where these people have lead a respectable life over the years," Dickstein declared.

SERVICEMEN PROTEST

The Congressman said his committee is receiving bitter protests from servicemen overseas, complaining against the deportation of their fathers. More than 600 persons have been deported since V-E Day.

"If we wanted to deport these people, we should have done so 20 years ago," Dickstein said. "In my opinion, if these men have led a clean life for the past 15 or 20 years, we should be charitable and not disrupt American homes."

A congressional committee is now studying conditions in camps where refugees are asking that they be permitted to remain in this country It had been originally planned and promised that the refugees would be returned to their homes in Europe.

Soviets Admit Austria Rape Says Official

VIENNA,—An official of the Provisional Austrian Government said he had protested rape by Red Army troops in their victorious sweep across Austria and was told:

"Our troops are different from the S. S. They raped our women and killed them. We don't kill your women."

The official commented: "that's true—they don't kill our women." His own daughter, he said, escaped violence by being covered with a blanket so that the Russian soldiers thought she was very old or very ill but a woman in the same room was violated 40 times.

An attractive young woman living in the American zone declared venereal diseases were spread by the troops and that "many women committed suicide" after violation. She said a Russian soldier once attempted to molest her, but that she was saved by the intervention of her mother with a revolver.

German-Americans Fight Deportation

Mr. Kurt Mertig
Chairman, Citizens' Protectice League,
New York, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Mertig:

As chairman of a committee, appointed by internees of Fort Lincolon, N. D., to confer on the offer you submitted in your recent letter, I am instructed to answer as follows:

The internees of Ft. Lincoln, N. D., have lived long enough in the United States to know and to appreciate well the rights of even the most humble among its people. We, of German descent, some of us with precious rights of citizenship lost in the confusion of the conditions of war, do not wish and do not consent to be classed and treated and proscribed as "dangerous alien enemies" of the country.

We have a clean and enduring record of good and law abiding conduct, if not of citizenship, and we know that it is in the interest of the American people, as it is of ourselves, that we should not, therefore, be deported against our will, separated from wife and children, and that against the laws and customs of this country that have been the protection and refuge, in times as these, of people in like position as we, for almost 150 years.

We believe that your efforts, to prevent forcible removal by repatriation without recourse to time honored customs and laws, will be approved by the American people and by the highest courts of the country .

For reasons, such as these, and in this spirit we authorize you, and Mr. James J. Laughlin to represent our vital interests in the ensuing trial of this cause. Please advise us as to the approximate cost of the proceedings.

There are, at present, about 235 internees at Ft. Lincoln affected by this order of removal.

Very truly yours,
For the Committee and the Internees of Fort Lincoln
(Signed) GEORGE KINZINGER, Chairman.

NATIONAL SELF-ABASEMENT

If American citizens of German origin possess so little pride of ancestry that they are willing to stand by, mute and inactive, while the German nation is wiped off the face of the earth, they will have none but themselves to blame, if in future days the same disgrace and discredit shall attach to the name "German", which, for exactly similar reasons now attaches to the name "Negro".

Racial contempts inevitably follow from manifestations of lack of national courage and self-respect. This is shown by the history of mankind from the earliest records of humanity. The conquered nation of today becomes the slave nation of to-morrow.

Kurt Mertig

The following appeared in the anti-Zionist News Letter, published by Rabbi Elmer Berger, who believes the Jews should be Americans first. The item, published by the Rabbi, refers to a recent Zionist Convention: "Apparently, it is the customary thing to have both a Zionist and an American flag on the Center's platform. The Zionist flag was not there the night the American Council for Judaism held its meeting. A member of the audience missed it. He stood up, cupped his hands to his mouth and shouted, 'Where is our flag?' I (Rabbi Berger) asked Rabbi Reichert to answer the question. He walked very calmly to the front of the platform, pointed to the Stars and Stripes and said, 'That is flag enough for me.' As he walked to his seat, he was greeted with booing and catcalls and jeers. If there was any applause, it was lost in the din. It was a startling experience."

Leave Your Bowels Alone !

Serutan, which started the passion of everybody to spell everything backwards and guess what it meant, is a more outstanding case. Possibly no radio advertising slogan has been more kidded than the announcement that Serutan becomes Natures when spelled backwards. The implications is quite obvious. The details require study of the Federal Trade Commission's Order 4332, issued Jan. 23, 1945.

Serutan was promoted in as indirect and disinterested a manner as possible, publications concerning it often appearing in the guise of being something else. Actually Serutan consisted at the time of rice polishings with an equal part of the epithelial tissue of that great panacea, psyllium seed. Taken as directed it was a mildly irritant bulk laxative, partaking of the virtues and the defects of yeast, bran and agar-agar.

It was neither a cure nor a remedy for constipation. Its therapeautic value was limited to whatever temporary relief such laxation can give to various conditions which afflict the long-suffering human race. Part of its indigestible residue broke down into volatile fatty acids in the body and these also directly irritate the lining of the intestinal walls, quite as do bulky fibers, resinous materials, harsh salines, powerful oils, and other agents to which human beings resort in insulating their gastro-intestinal tracts.

Naturally if you irritate the intestinal walls while stuffing them with indigestible bulk you will produce bowel movements. Actually though the gastro-intestinal tract is not a plumber's pipe into one end of which you stuff miscellaneous matter, whether digestible, irritating or not, in order to produce a ready flow out the other end.

No vegetable laxative remedies constipation, restores natural elimination, promotes normal, regular intestinal action, strengthens or stimulates the digestive or eliminative muscles or organs.

Let your bowels alone !

Keep These Americans From The Russian Firing Squads!

The Washington Times-Herald reports on July 18, 1945:

"TRUMAN ISSUES ORDER FOR ALIEN DEPORTATION

"President Truman yesterday issued a proclamation authorizing Attorney General Clark to deport any enemy aliens deemed to be dangerous to the public peace and safety."

Walter Winchell, broadcasting on July 22, 1945, stated in substance the following: "The Department of Justice has signed and airmailed for approval to President Truman in Berlin the deportation orders for fifteen former officers of the German American Bund, whose convictions were reversed by the U. S. Supreme Court on June 11, 1945, who had been denaturalized and who are held now in internment as German enemy aliens. Gen. Eisenhower consented to their being shipped back to Germany by the first outgoing vessel."

These fifteen former leaders of the German American Bund were de-naturalized in various parts of the country during this war, solely on the grounds of their membership in the Bund. They were convicted and sent to jail with testimony of the paid stooges of the B'nai Brith secret police.. (The same stooges that testified last year in the mass-"sedition" trial in Washington.)

They have been de-naturalized for their political beliefs. They have been jailed for their opposition to our participation in the European war, prior to Pearl Harbor; their protests against the subtle usurpation of unconstitutional powers by the New Deal, their active and self-sacrificing exposure of the communistic scheming in this country, has brought down upon them the wrath of the whole left-wing cabal.

The treatment these men and their families received during the last five years constitutes one of the most diabolical conspiracies in the history of this country. They served 35 months in jail for a crime they did not commit. Now, after the Supreme Court of the United States of America has reversed their conviction, and has judged them not guilty, the same un-American cabal is trying their utmost to deport those who lost their citizenship, as quickly as possible. Of the fifteen, Klapprott and Schwinn are still being held in a Washington, D. C. jail under the three year old "sedition" indictments, while Hans Diebel and others are in the hands of the Immigration Department ready for deportation.

The present deportation proceedings are based on such essentially weak grounds that it was found necessary to go back to 1798—a century and a half—to dig up a statute from which to derive an alleged authority for the mass-deportation of some 900 interned German nationals, in particular the former leaders of the bund. The unconstitutionality of this long dead statute, and other points of law involved, are now being taken to the U. S. Courts in Washington, D. C., by the famous District of Columbia attorney JAMES J. LAUGHLIN, Esq., National Press Building, Washington, D. C. 6.

Mr. Kurt Mertig, Chairman of the Citizens Protective League, 317 E. 54th St., New York 22, N. Y., is working untiringly for these men in jail and in interment camps. Write to him for further information. Send him your contributions to KEEP THESE AMERICANS FROM THE RUSSIAN FIRING-SQUADS.

WRITE TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES! WRITE TO THE ATTORNEY GENERAL TOM CLARK!

(Send copies of these letters to your Congressman and Senators).

Demand that hese men be not deported, but be permitted to remain with their wives and children in the land of their choice.

Think of the striking contrast in the treatment of these men, with the pressure being brought at this time, to allow 1000 Oswega refugees (brought here from Europe last summer under special decree issued by F. D. R. and who would be returned "upon termination of the war") to remain in the United States and quickly become citizens.

Object to the mass-deportation for the following reasons:

1. Deportation seems to be entirely unwarranted in view of the present conditions in this country. The men involved certainly are not "dangerous to the public peace and safety".

2. An intolerable hardship would result for the families of such deportees in this country.

3. On the same grounds as Jewish and Communist groups successfully caused a rescission of the deportation order of one Jan Valtin (Krebs) author of the book "Out of the Night", i.e even if the deportation of these 900 German nationals in general, and the fifteen former bundists in particular, might not mean a sentence of death in Siberia, it surely would result in their being seized and put in concentration camps or prisons upon arrival in Germany, in other words creating a double jeopardy for these men, who have not been guilty of any wrong-doing in the United States.

4. For humanity's and decency's sake, as there is no reason that the United States should cause un-merited perpetual punishment for these German and German-AMERICANS, we Americans should not allow ourselves to be governed by sentiments created by a minority and born from the hatred of war conditions, we should not tolerate religious and racial persecution resulting from events long prior to the war.

THE SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES SPEAKS

(Extracts from the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of 24 former Bund-leaders whose conviction was reversed after they served 35 months in prison.)

"The professed purpose of the Bund was to keep alive the German spirit among persons of German blood in the United States. Speeches and literature justify the inference that the Bund endorsed the Nazi movement in Germany, and if it did not actually advocate some form of government in this country, at least essayed to create public opinion favorable to the Hitler regime and to the German National Socialist State. The Bund was also anti-British and opposed our entering the war in the side of the British; its aim was to keep us neutral and friendly to the new Germany.

"There is also much to the effect that the Bund is pursuing aims within the constitutional rights of its members, and that its activities need not be hidden from government agencies

". . . . but if the Bund and its membership were, prior or subsequent to January 1, 1940, engaged in illegal activities, other than those claimed to prove the charge laid in the indictment, the record is bare of evidence of any such.

"The Bund feared that the President might use a conscript army by sending it abroad to fight with England, against Germany. The Bund desired this country to maintain neutrality by not having our soldiers go to foreign shores. These views were then shared by many loyal citizens, and some of them were enacted into law by Congress. (See paragraph 3, (e) of the Selective Training and Service Act). There is no documentary evidence to contradict this testimony.

"When we view the conduct of these defendants in all of this setting, their vigorous language to have been little, if any, more condemnatory of the discriminatory section of the Selective Service Act than the language previously used by this court with reference to legislation of a similar pattern.

"We are of the view, therefore, that, on the case made by the government, the defendants were entitled to the direction of acquittal, for which they moved."

* * * *

"The record in the case will stand forever as a monument to man's intolerance of man. Seldom if ever in the history of this country has there been such a concentrated and relentless crusade to deport an individual because he dared to exercise the freedom that belongs to him as a human being and that is guaranteed to him by the Constitution.

"As shown by the record in this case, Harry Bridges has done no more than exercise his personal right to free speech and association. Yet upon proof of that fact, he would be subject to deportation under the statute. The invalidity of legislation of such nature is inescapable.

"A deported alien may lose his family, his friends and his livelihood forever. Return to his native land may result in poverty, persecution and even death. There is thus no justifiable reason for discarding the democratic and humane tenets of our legal system and descending to the practices of despotism in dealing with deportation.

"Though deportation is not technically a criminal proceeding, it visits a great hardship on the individual and deprives him of the right to stay and live and work in this land of freedom. That deportation is a penalty—at times a most serious one—cannot be doubted. Meticulous care must be exercised lest the procedure by which he is deprived of that liberty not meet the essential standards of fairness."

* * * *

UNITED STATES DISTRICT JUDGE PIERSON M. HALL, LOS ANGELES, CALIF., REFUSED to de-naturalize 21 former officers and members of the German American Bund on June 14th, 1944, stating among other things in his decision:

"In the midst of this war to preserve individual liberties, it would be strange indeed to deny them to a man for their exercise when we were not then at war."

54 members of Congress are to be given free trips to Europe. They represent important Congressional Committees which want to know first-hand what is going on and what we can expect. When they return their reports are likely to be sensational. For one thing, they will discover that we are practically donating our surplus war materials to Europe. England and France are buying our materials for as little as 6 cents on the dollar, and we are loaning them the money with which to buy this, on the theory that they will never pay it back. We are paying French farmers as high as $1500 apiece for $25 horses.

By WASHINGTON ADAMS

For years I have felt that the white man had reached the age of mechanical invention TOO SOON—ages before his evolution would have enabled him to use inventions wisely—for good and not for his own undoing.

Our Watts, Edisons, Nobles, Marconis and Lawrences evolved mentally and spiritually far ahead of their fellows. No great inventor ever used his own invention to destroy. Duller minds grasp the pistol and point it at the heart of humanity.

Da Vinci threw away his plan for a submarine, fearing it woud be used for evil. He was a seer and a philanthropist.

Humanitarians all over the world have been shocked at the use of the uranium ("atomic") bomb on the city of Hiroshima, which not only ruined war plants but probably KILLED 100,000 CIVILIANS.

When our ancestors first arrived in America, they faced a savage foe— distant cousins of the Mongolian. Our Declaration of Independence described them as "the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguied destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions."

Our Indians, in cold blood, massacred whole settlements—men, women, babies and all. Yet our ancestors never replied in kind. They were more enlightened than we are.

Gradually the rules of "civilizied" (?) warfare were modified to exclude civilians. But this great war reveals the decline of Christianity and a reversion to the savagery of the Indians and the ancient Hebrews.

"Save alive nothing that breatheth!" (Deut. 20:10) has become the brutal credo.

Never in world history has there been anything like the American destruction of Hiroshima.

One BOMB—product of 2,000 million dollars of American preparation—and bang, bang, bang, —explosion on top of explosion; heat of two million degrees Fahrenheit is generated; iron buildings vaporize; men, women and children are turned into gases, which then explode. At least 100,000 persons die; every animal, every living thing, within four square miles perish.

Many Americans believe this strange bomb violates international law and article 22 of the Hague convention.

But weren't we already searing the lungs of our enemies with flamethrowers? And had we not killed two million civilians in Hamburg, Berlin, Bremen and Cologne?

In this awful invention we have a silent partner in England, now ruled by Red Socialists, who for four years have boasted that they admired Russia more than they did America.

Now that Russia has come in "at the kill", will the English Reds want to confer the secret of the uranium bomb to their spiritual brothers, the Red Russians?

In 1941 the Japanese editors, deploring the possibility of war with us, were writing that such a war might destroy civilization. Perhaps they wrote more wisely than they knew.

Jew refugee Communists in Hollywood are working day and night writing scenarios and assisting in the groundwork for propaganda to be released during the postwar period in an attempt to communize America. The brains of the Hollywood clique is a writer with an income of over $20,000 per month. Congressman Rankin's plan to expose the Hollywood plot is being acclaimed by patriotic citizens of California.

Protocols of the Elders of Zion

Dear Editor:

Many thanks for the nice publicity 'break' in the July 30 issue of your fine publication.

We have received a number of inquiries as the result of the article you ran and publicly thank you in the August issue of Gentile News that is issued around the fifteenth of every month.

Isn't it peculiar, though, that even though our editorial was clearly written that a number of people thought we were selling the Protocols in book form?

The Protcols are running serially—one each issue of Gentile News. Readers that desire the Protocols may do so by subscribing to Gentile News, 30 North LaSalle Street, Chicago, Illinois at only $3 per year.

The confusion was probably the result of our attempting to explain that actual photographs of pages from the Book of Protocols were being reproduced in the Gentile News. Many of our readers keep a complete file of Gentile News as a handy reference so now readers of Gentile News have an opportunity to have on file all the 24 Protocols. Fact of the matter is new subscribers may have their yearly subscriptions dated from July 1, 1945. . .the first issue of Gentile News Protocol reproductions.

Most cordially, EUGENE R. FLITCRAFT

Vegetarianism and Self-Defense

Dear Dad:

I see your point in the discussion concerning the colored boy. The only point I may have is the fact that I am a paying guest. I have found that I am greatly relaxed in the evening after an intensive day at drafting by physical exercise at the YMCA using their equipment and gymnasium.

I have been in Reno for about two weeks now, and I am just beginning to get acquainted with the town. I am going to secure a library card tomorrow in order that I might have the use of any informative material.

I have been working rather industriously lately. So far this is the only work in CPS that has held much interest for me. At first I found that my eyes had become tired. Then I remembered Lesson 1 in Health and Breath. Ever since I have been able to work at top capacity without difficulty.

The other day while I was exercising a little Mexican fellow of 18 came down where I was. He had asked the Y director about what sort of exercise he could do to improve his physical condition. The director noticing that I came in from time to time sent him to me. The little fellow was asking me about diet. He seemed to come to a point which bothered him. Rather diffidently he asked if a person really needed meat in order to be healthy and strong. In the same breath he opined that drinking milk might be harmful. He said that after eating meat he became sick to his stomach. Milk made his skin itch. He didn't really realize the gold mine he had hit upon. I, of course, told him that I had never eaten meat, but that I had drunk milk for a greater part of my life. I pointed out to him the advantages of soy milk over cow's milk. Strangely enough he didn't seem surprised that I was a vegetarian or that I did not think that milk was an essential. He realized the importance of fruit and promised to buy himself fruit to eat from markets if he could not get enough in restaurants. His name is Xavier, and he is a charming and likeable fellow. However, one of his ambitions at present is to become a boxer. I'm afraid he won't find the ferocity necessary to become a fighter in his contemplated future diet.

If anything furthur developes concerning Xavier, I'll write. Love, DAVID

P. S. Thanks for the $5.00

Dear David:

Concerning Xavier. You don't seem to get the proper factors into consideration when you calculate what a vegetarian diet will do to a professional boxer. In fact, the young Mexican will turn into a most successful boxer as a vegetarian, more successful than as a meat-eater. Boxers are NOT killers, they paralyze.

In any athletic profession the absence of tobacco, coffee, alcoholic liquors and any kind of drugs is imperative during training period. It frees the body from poisons so that fatigue poison produced during the ordeal of public exhibitions is quickly neutralized or eliminated and the individual succeeds to win his prize. The freer the body from poisons as the contest begins, the better the chance of success. It sustains heart, nerves, blood stream and muscles and affects the brain. Contrary to supposition, athletic contestants work very hard with their brains to control the physical functions. It is brain, heart, lungs as well as nerves, blood and muscles.

Keep in mind a pure blooded stallion on the range, or an elephant. Take a stag for example. They are terrible fighters to protect their females against enemies and rivals. They even become ruthless killers. And the purer the strain, the deadlier their defense. Thus the WILL to survive triumphs.

The vegetarian has a better chance to survival than the meat eater. First from the biochemical side, he has less uric poisons in his system because every carcass is saturated with urin, all liquids having turned into urin with the instant of death. Second his organism is working the natural way while the meat eater is unnatural, a parasite. Thus nature protects its own directly, more favorably than a parasite can protect himself inspite of violating nature. While the animal-human bodies adjust themselves to the most unnatural conditions, some even thrive on drugs and die when the drug is eliminated, nevertheless the bodies that operate within the frame of CREATION as originally planned, have the advantage over all others.

In the case of the stallions you notice that the vegetarian impulse at self-preservation of the individual and his right to propagate his kind, is so terrific that a vegetarian turns killer of his enemies and rivals. The instinct of protecting his mares produces undreamt of effects. Thus the THOUGHT of danger releases energies which are purely responsive to psychic incentive, to the WILL to survive and master the situation.

Exactaly in the same way in your Mexican boxer. The purer the body, chemically and organically, the better the WILL to win the fight can exact physiologic collaboration between mind and body.

Also consider that a Mexican is a half-breed, Spanish and Indian. Thus the Indian fighter as well as the Spanish conquistador is still in his blood.

Vegetarians are non-violent pacifists ONLY when the divine Christ consciousness awakens in them. THEN they surmount the natural KARMIC instincts of self-preservation even and lay down their lives for Obedience to CHRIST first. The vegetarian is therein also at an advantage over the meat eater. Not having procured his body material by violence and murder, or theft, if he also abstains from stealing milk and eggs from the animals, he is NOT indebted to the animal kingdom, but has complete lliberty of self-determination. A thief and a murderer is always a slave of his crimes.

Now if your Xavier were to add Soya products from the Daglish outfit, in place of milk and eggs, then he would be in first class physical condition, surpassed by none. My bad experiences from Soya products were with the beans used by the Loma Linda outfit.

Don't forget your work of 'national importance' which you have to do in the federal courts on your own. Love, KOSTI.

The pictures will come eventually, but when, I don't know. The fellow who has the film is out in Santa Rosa, Nevada. I have written to him asking him to send me mine as soon as the film is developed and printed.

As regards to money: I can always use anything you have to spare. I am working 8 and one half hours a day on CPS on this mapping project, but I am trying to get a job working nights for a few hours in order to have some spending money, and perhaps save some for my final year in college. I haven't been successful as yet in finding a job, principally because I don't feel much like working.

'Gladys' Finally Materialized

Our readers who for years have either loved or loathed our 'Gladys' and the chats with her, will get another jolt or share another joy. Gladys has turned up, in flesh and blood.

All my life I have been hunting for another one whose aim would match mine. Of course, she had to be a girl. I met a woman here and another one there, in whose person I found some of the qualities I hungered for in true companionship. Then I started dreaming and endowed her with the additional requirements I would have loved to find.

The first 'Gladys Chat' resulted from experiences with a flesh and blood girl whose actual name was Gladys. Her husband had died, leaving her with several small children. She had studied with the Rosicrucians and we had delightful visits. But she was so afraid of not getting enough money together to raise her children, her whole mind became obsessed with the need of making money. Yes, she raised the children, but....

Out of that friendship the Gladys stories resulted. When the friendship ceased quite early, I continued the fiction, in most cases based on conversations with other girls I met here and there. What I was looking for was my Gladys, a Temple School girl pupil who consecrated herself to divine service and who dares go as far as I do in search of the Holy Grail and then practices in daily, personal life, in the political, economic and religious realms the things she discovered to be true in her esoteric studies.

The last 10 years have produced many a good 'Gladys Chat'. Some people loathed them because they are 'love stories'. Christianity to them is hellfire and brimstone. So I am always glad to use the stories as a means of separating the normal human beings from the malformed minds, too narrow or bigotted to be natural.

The 'Chats with Gladys' were an escape product of my own imagination mostly, but they did express what was moving me deeply in my soul and expectations in life. While I wished, dreamed and worked hard to carry the duties given me, facing this criminally murderous world of hypocrites and imbeciles who use science for mass murder and religion to cover up their crimes, as divinely ordained by the Creator, quoting Bible to justify themselves, I had not realized that my efforts were being so thoroughly watched and followed by thousands of people, even though it was obvious, from the circulation of The Broom. Any way, I ignored the possibility that from all those women readers it would finally draw to me the one who fitted into the role I made 'Gladys' play.

But I have had a promise whispered by the Spirit who guides my steps, that if I carried out instructions as ordered I'd finally meet "her" as a reward for work well done.

And now she came, out of the Infinite. She had felt she belonged and long before she met me she spoke to her friends, "her Kosti" did this or he had said that. And now I shall enjoy her company. Will be back in San Diego Aug. 25.

Racing to Outdevil the Devil

The use to which the Uranium Bomb is being put, misnamed atom bomb, demonstrates that the "scientific" race is not one of humane progress but of discovering greater and worse means of inflicting death, destruction and terror.

The worship of the State-government above divine and moral Law has reached a record-low in brutality. The U. S. A., previously known for its humanitarianism, has become the Devil's expert in turning earth into a living hell. The backwash is as inevitable as the doom of the militaristic Reich under the Kaiser and Hitler. The chickens are on their way, home!

The Congressional Library has prepared a list of recommended books for Congressmen to read during the summer. Without exception, the books have been written by Communists or pro-Communists.

Dear Sir:

I would like another subscription to The Broom—address it to me—this is for a friend of mine. Beginning with Aug. 6, 1945.

Also please send me 25 copies of July 23 and 10 copies of July 30, 1945.

The balance of the $5.00 money order—use for stamps etc.

Your little paper has more news and enlightenment than any I have read since Wm. Dudley's "Liberator" and "Roll Call".

The Rev. Dr. Bernard Iddings Bell, of Providence, R. I., speaking at New York's historic Trinity church, said atomic bombing has probadly undermined forever the influence of American and British Christian missions in the Orient.

Dear Mr. de Aryan:

Please send me a few copies of The Broom from the 6th of Aug., 45 (5 or 6); the change ($2.50) is for the work.

'JEWS DON'T WANT TO GO HOME'

LONDON,— Thousands of Jews will refuse to return to their European countries when their repatriation permits reach them because rumors of Anti-Semitism are rife in the concentration camp areas of Germany, Dr. Israel Goldstein, president of the Zionist organization of America, said here.

Goldstein is in London after a three-week visit to France and Germany.

He urged the immediate setting up of large "Jews-only" camps under Jewish leadership, which, he said, would make possible the establishment of religious schooling and Jewish cultural education.

Goldstein said the Jews he had spoken to in Germany felt that American Jewry had the power to achieve their freedom by the opening of the gates of Palestine.

"They crave frequent visits of Jewish delegations from America," he added. "They have missed contact with the American people and they need help in the shape of personal visits more than material food and clothing supplies."

QUOTA for JEWS in COLLEGES

NEW YORK,—Dr Ernest M. Hopkins, President of Dartmouth College, holds that the institution is "a Christian college founded for the Christianization of its students," and admits that it denies entrance to most Jews simply because they are Jews.

Protests greeted the remarks of the 65-year-old educator which were made in a telephone interview with the New York Post. The interview followed disclosure of a letter written by Hopkins to Herman Shumlin, movie and theatrical producer, in which the educator said he believed the fires of dangerous anti-semitism were being fanned by Jews who militantly asserted their rights in the U. S. A.

Shumlin had accused Hopkins of anti-Jewish prejudice because the educator refused to join a committee to promote equality of educational opportuniy. Such a group has been set up by the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions of which Shumlin is a director.

In the letter, dated Apr. 2, Hopkins warned Shumlin that in Germany after the first world war there was a grave increase of anti-Semitism owing to "the soldiers finding all their institutions and all of their professions dominated by a race (the Jews) which numbered only one per cent of the population." Hopkins said that Dartmouth's quota policy was aimed at protecting the Jews from anti-Semitism.

The Child of Infinitude

The Sun may be clouded, but ever the Sun
Will sweep on its course, till the cycle is run.
And when in the chaos the systems are hurled,
Again will the builder re-shape the new world.

Your path may be clouded, uncertain your goal—
Move on, for the orbit is fixed for your soul.
And though it may lead to the darkness at night,
The torch of the builder will give it new light.

You are and you will be, know this while you are,
Your spirit has traveled both long and afar.
It took on strange garbs for eons of years,
And now in the soul of yourself it appears.

It swept through the jewel, it leaped on the waves,
It roamed through the forest, it rose from the grave.
From body to body your spirit speeds on—
It seeks a new form when the old one is gone.

And the form that you find is the fabric you wrought,
In the loom of your mind, with the fiber of thought.
It came from the source to which it returns,
The spark that was lighted eternally burns.

As the dew is drawn upward in rain to descend—
Your thoughts drift away, and in destiny blend.
You cannot escape them, for petty or great,
Or evil or noble, they fashion your fate.

Somewhere on some planet, sometime and somehow,
Your life will reflect all the thoughts of you now,
The law is unerring, no blood can atone,
The structure you build you must live in alone.

From cycle to cycle, through time and through space,
Your life with your longings, will ever keep pace,
And all that you ask for and all you desire,
Must come to your bidding, as flame out of fire.

You are your own devil, you are your own God—
You fashion the steps that your footsteps have trod.
No one can save you from error or sin,
Until you hark to the spirit within.

Once list' to that voice and all tumult is done;
Your life is the life of the Infinite One.
In a hurrying race you are conscious of pause—
With love for the purpose, and love for the cause.

Robert Noble Writes A Letter

When Mr. Botkin, the Supt. received this note the next morning he sent for Noble and fished around with an attempted explanation of why his name had to be taken off of the list, altho he had actually received the highest number of votes of any inmate. Noble of course knew what the real reason was and was considerably amused at the squirming around. In fact Mr. Botkin sent for Noble three times that day trying to give a semblance of reasonable explanation for striking his name. It was indeed amusing, first Noble was here on a Writ issued by the D. C. Courts (which is invalid) and therefore was only a day-to-day visitor. But you see ten or fifteen others were in that class and they were all qualified to participate and of course the management had reserved the right to reject any inmate, but they did not want to do that in Noble's case since no valid reason existed for such and in fact they wanted very much to show that the political prisoners were treated just like all others. Well, after trying to give several very lame excuses Botkin finally discovered that Noble had not been on "Detail" (working) but about a month when the rules called for one to be such for at least 90 days. So this was the technical reason hit upon. "You see, the rules are such and so". But at the same time the old boy had changed the rules declaring all nominated who had received but half of the number of votes originally called for by "the rules", this in order to get the non-Aryan brother among the running.

But the thing that excited brother Botkin was the mention of sending copies of Noble's note to Mr. Laughlin and Senator Langer; he kept stressing that this was just an internal affair and should not be known outside of the building. But Noble quickly told him that Mr. Laughlin already knew about it and that the Senator would know. Finally Botkin wrote out an explanation of the withdrawal of Noble's name, pointing out that it was regretful that his name had to be withdrawn but that he should take pride in the fact that he had received more votes than anyone else, although he had only been on "detail" and therefore in contact with the other inmates, allowed to vote for comparatively a few days. This he read out to Noble and asked if he did not think this explained things alright. But strangely when this notice appeared on the boards it said that Noble had been among the first five highest nominees in votes received, Noble said that he thought Mr. Botkin had said he got the highest number. Botkin said he had said that but that after examining the records closely he found that he was among the first three nominees. Noble asked why did not the notice say that instead of "first five", Botkin replied that of course that anyone in the first three would surely be among the first five so it was technically correct. Noble replied that at that rate it would have been also correct to say he was in the first twenty-five!

This all goes to show how niggardly these boys are treated by those in authority, right on down thru the Dept. of Justice. Looks like they are all (those in authority) are trying to help Lipshitz (Winchell) as much as possible.

Well, you must learn that the plan of the management did not work to slip the Jewish guy in.. After all the talk of "Democracy" on the part of these folks about discrimination lo-and-behold the campaign committee for the Jew tried to put over the idea with the colored brethren that if they would vote for the Jew that they wouldn't need a representative of their own for he would look after their interests. But Noble heard of this and encouraged the colored boys to vote for one of their own race to represent them. With slight encouragement from Noble and his friends they did just that—of course, Noble and his friends had had a little experience in political campaigns—and the result was that the Jewish boy was snowed under and didn't get half enough votes to be near in the running. The voting in the finals was almost solid for the ticket suggested by Noble and his friends—1—2—3. There was a lot of other chicanery by those trying to thwart the will of the inmates and elect an "administration ticket", we'll not take your time up with it, how they tried to intimidate every voter as he voted—how we got the whole thing called off in the middle of the balloting and made them conduct it in the open before everybody in the recreation room.

Well, the windup is that the inmates won; but there is a deficit for campaign cigars judiciously handed out at the proper times and places—if some kind-hearted brother or sister would like to make a bit of contribution to the good old democratic processes that we may keep the flag flying high, real Americanism in action, even in a penitentiary. Well, it would muchly be appreciated. The deficit amount can hardly be mentioned, for although "The Morgue" is now to remove his finger from the public purse, yet he will be there a few days more, and some of his agents might start looking into these campaign expenses—but they can hardly be more than a few dollars. Of course, when we get into a fight we never hesitate to give all to win our objective, even, it is said, are willing to go to the length of being shoved into dark prison cells for the principles we uphold. Anyway we wrecked the plan of the management and lowered into the nether regions the reputation and standing of the member of "Gods" chosen people" (?) He is nothing but an administration stooge. And to see him go about the place—into the kitchen where he eats of the best with the steward, etc.—you would think he was a Warden. At the moment he is considerably deflated and the hue and cry of a couple of those close to him is they can't figure out what happened. It was lots of fun, and we just couldn't help it. (To be concluded)

Lindbergh Declares Europe Shorn of Liberty

CHICAGO,—Our soldiers have been vistorious in arms in Europe, says Charles A. Lindbergh, but, he adds, "We have not established peace or liberty" there and many "so-called liberated nations have simply exchanged the Nazi form of dictatorship for the communist form."

"There is less security there now than ever before, and less democracy," said the noted flyer, who recently returned from a research trip in Europe, according to an interview published in the Chicago Tribune. Lindbergh was quoted as saying that the fear of continued warfare and revolution is widespread in Europe.

"And if a third world war comes within another generation, our children will find it worse than the one we are now fighting," said Lindbergh who went to Europe to study enemy developments in jet and rocket aircraft. "New weapons will be used; these are already invented but were not developed enough to put into this war with their full effectiveness. We are probably not far from the time when men will fly through the air with the speed of a projectile.

Lindbergh was quoted indirectly by the Tribune as attributing the German air force collapse to the fighting qualities of our airmen, to the German attack on Russia, to the American mass production ability and to the incompetence of the Nazi form of Government.

"The ideals of justice and tolerance have vanished from a continent," he said. "Freedom of speech and action is suppressed over a large portion of the world, especially in the so-called liberated nations, many of whom have simply exchanged the Nazi form of dictatorship for the communist form.

"Poland is not free, nor the Baltic states, nor the Balkans. Fear, hatred and distrust are breeding on a scale that never existed before. In fact, a whole civilization is in disintegration."

Citizens Defend A. C. Senour And Nellie I. Mills

EAST CHICAGO, Ind.,—A delegation from the East Chicago Civic league appeared in Indianapolis, Ind., and urged the state board of education to "scrutinize closely" the qualifications of Clarence B. Barrett of Palos Park, newly appointed superintendent of schools of East Chicago.

At the same time Barrett filed an application for an Indiana teaching license with the board. Barrett was named by the two Democratic members of the East Chicago school board to succeed A. C. Senour, who was ousted because of his protest against the dismissal of Miss Nellie I. Mills, veteran teacher. The board accused her of refusing to conduct memorial services for the late President Roosevelt.

Charles C. Thornburg, head of the civic league delegation, said Barrett's appointment is illegal. Barrett formerly was superintendent of elementary schools in Summit.

BRITAIN'S PENSION RACKET

Britain's pensions, to men who have won victories or given outstanding service, continue to their descendants. Churchill as descendant of the Duke of Marlborough, we understand continues to benefit by this pension racket. A Britisher of above average intelligence argued that the scales of justice should be balanced by penalties as well as rewards going down the family tree.. He contended descendants of a man hanged for capital crime should also be hanged.

Reveal Atom Bomb Was The German 'V-3'

LONDON,—The atomic bomb which rocked Japan was Hitler's V-3 weapon and would have been used by him but for a British and Norwegian raid on laboratories in Norway in February, 1943, the British Press association reported. The raid was made at heavy loss of life, former Prime Minister Churchill said.

The news agency reported that the raid was carried out by paratroopers whose success was due to the cooperation of a Norwegian workman at Rjukan laboratories who did not raise the alarm but allowed the allied soldiers to go about their work.

Twenty minutes after he wished the paratroopers "good luck", the laboratory with its radium, uranium, and heavy water was destroyed.

A year after the paratroopers had wrecked the German's experimental station in Norway the R. A. F. put a stop to another plant in that country, destroying 12 tons of heavy water — a vital ingredient of the atomic bomb.

German Women Raped by Reds

LONDON,— As our long line of British army lorries (trucks) conveying American, British, and French liberated prisoners of war from the Russian to the main Anglo-American zone of Germany, rolled thru the main street of Brahlstorf, the last Russian occupied town, a pretty blonde girl darted from the crowd of Germans watching us and made a wild dash for our truck.

Clinging with both hands to the tail board, she made a desperate effort to climb in. But we were driving too fast and the board was too high. After being dragged several hundred yards she had to let go. She fell on the cobble stone street, where she remained lying, and the river of trucks following just managed to swerve to avoid running over her.

The scene was a dramatic illustration of the state of terror in which women in Russian occupied eastern Germany were living. All these women—not only Germans but Polish, Jewish, and even Russian girls freed from Nazi slave camps—were dominated by one desperate desire—to escape from the Red zone to the lines of the western allies.

REDS RAPE EVERY WOMAN

The Russian high command issued orders to restrain Red soldiers and I have seen local Russian commanders run considerable personal risk trying to protect women from drunken troops. But I also know that the high command's orders frequently were not enforced and rarely obeyed.

In the district around our internment camp, comprising the towns of Schlawe, Lauenburg, and Buckow and hundreds of larger villages Red soldiers during the first weeks of their occupation raped every girl and woman between the ages of 12 and 60. That sounds exaggerated, but it is the simple truth.

The only exception were girls who remained in hiding in the woods or who feigned illness—typhoid, dyphtheria, or some other infectious disease. Flushed with victory, and often with wine found in cellars of Pomeranian land owners, the Reds searched every house for women, cowing them with pistols or tommy guns, and carried them into their tanks or trucks.

HUSBANDS SHOT DOWN

Husbands and fathers who attempted to protect their womenfolk were shot down, and girls offering resistance were murdered. This tragedy was enacted afresh every time new troops passed thru the villages. Particularly savage excesses were committed by the Red army corps that moved westward thru Pomerania after the fall of Danzig.

Some weeks after the invasion Red "political commissions" began a tour of the countryside, ostensibly in search of members of the Nazi party. In every village the women were told to report for "examination of papers" to these commissions, which looked them over and detained those with sex appeal. The youngest and prettiest were taken by the officers and the rest were left to the mercy of the privates. Some girls, warned in time, took babies with them and were sent home.

This reign of terror lasted as long as I was with the Redh in Pomerania. Several girls whom I had known during my captivity committed suicide. Others died after having been raped by ten soldiers in succession. A few days after one community was taken by the Reds I saw two trucks pass thru the street loaded with the naked bodies of murdered women.

There were, however, many hairbreadth escapes. A girl who had been a maid in a chateau at Tychow jumped from a window when the Russians burst into her room. She pretended to have broken her leg, and screamed so loudly they left her alone.

EIGHT GIRLS HIDE IN WOODS

In an isolated farmhouse where my French comrade and myself spent three months after joining the Reds eight young girls from neighboring villages were hiding from the Reds. One was always on watch, and whenever the Russians were seen approaching they scampered off into the woods and hid. While we were there the Reds never discovered them. All these girls already had been raped and three of them were pregnant.

The Red occupation is having a disastrous effect on the morality of the inhabitants, and the existing conditions of anarchy will exert an evil influence for years. Many women have been infected with venereal diseases, and now a few youthful girls have joined the Reds for pleasure and food and are helping them spot their compatriots.

OFFICERS PROMISE PILLAGE

Whenever possible girls attach themselves to liberated Anglo-Americans or French prisoners of war for protection against the Russians.

When the Red army starts a big offensive its commanders hold out prospects of unrestricted rape and pillage as encouragement to the troops, but later they try to stem the tide of lust—not on grounds of humanity but because it threatens to undermine discipline.

Squadrons of Cossacks, used by the Reds as they were by the czar, as mounted police, periodically surrounded villages in Pomerania and searched all the houses for deserters who had remained behind with women. The Cossacks mercilessly drove the soldiers off to jail with their "nagaikas" (Cossack whips), but they kept the women for their own pleasure.

Christians Barred from Law Practice in Illinois

The U. S. Supreme Court upheld the Supreme Court of Illinois in ruling that the Illinois Bar Association may refuse admission to an otherwise highly qualified candidate solely on the grounds that he is a conscientious objector. The candidate denied the right to practice law was Clyde Wilson Summers, an outstanding law student from the University of Illinois who since has taken a position teaching law at Toledo College in Ohio.

A conscientious objector on religious grounds, Wilson's convictions run so deeply that he refused to use his physical disability as the reason for staying out of the service. In upholding this vicious doctrine of the Illinois bar, the Supreme Court has said that a man's religious convictions are sufficient grounds to bar him from making a living in a profession in which he might render valuable service to society.

Writing the dissent for Justices Douglas, Murphy, and Ruthledge, Justice Black used some stern and vigorous language which any nation smugly calling itself Christian ought to read. Pointing out that Summers measures up to every other qualification for admission to the bar, Black said that there could be no doubt he was rejected for religious beliefs.

"It may be," he wrote, "as many people think, that Christ's gospel of love and submission is not suited to a world in which men still fight and kill one another. But I am not ready to say that a mere profession of belief in that gospel is a sufficient reason to keep otherwise well qualified men out of the legal profession or to drive law abiding lawyers of that belief out of the profession, which would be the next logical development."—The Progressive.
